

Catherine Mackey – Resume

After receiving her BA honors degree in Interior Architecture at Manchester University in England Catherine spent 14 years working and teaching in the field of commercial interior architecture in London before moving to the US to follow her dream of being a painter. While she left behind a world of corporate design, project management, and budgets she brought with her an abiding fascination for the built environment.

She has a cultured and architecturally-aware collector base and her paintings have been seen in art publications, films, and local arts documentaries. She is represented by galleries and brokers in New York and San Francisco.
